

The Wisconsin Economic Development Corporation has published a number of guidelines for business entities strongly recommending the development of actions to reduce the chances of transmitting the COVID-19 virus from customers/users to employees and vice versa. The guidelines can be viewed by clicking on this link: <https://wedc.org/reopen-guidelines/>.

The guidelines available are:

- | | | |
|-------------------------|-------------------------|----------------------|
| General Business | Agriculture | Contractors |
| Entertainment | Gym and Fitness Centers | Hair and Nail Salons |
| Hospitality and Lodging | Manufacturers | Outdoor Gathering |
| Outdoor Recreation | Professional Services | Public Facilities |
| Restaurants | Retail | Transportation |
| Warehouse/Wholesale | Trade | |

If your business category is listed above, please read the guideline. If not, refer to the General Business guideline.

The 'Opening of Wisconsin' does carry the risk of increased virus transmission. Everything that is done to reduce transmission can help keep the infection rate manageable.
